

Generalised system of preferences (GSP)

Zimbabwe, in common with other developing countries, are benefiting from the GSP, which is offered by a number of developed countries. The GSP is a system that provides reduced Most Favoured Nation (MFN) rates of duty or duty free access to products from the developing countries. The preferences vary by country and product and changes from year to year.