World Trade Organisation (WTO)

The World Trade Organization (WTO) is the only global international organization dealing with the rules of trade between nations. At its heart are the WTO agreements, negotiated and signed by the bulk of the world's trading nations and ratified in their parliaments. It has 147 member states. The WTO is premised on reciprocal trade arrangements and equal treatment of the member states. No benefits can be accrued by developing countries such as Zimbabwe by virtue of being members. Zimbabwe is a member. Countries do the registration and companies are not to do anything since there are no benefits at company level.
